HURLED IN THE AIR TO WRECK A TRAIN

Two Men Struck by Car on Lawrence Road

Robert Stevenson in Critical Condition — William Stone Throw to One Side — Narrow Escape From Instant Death

Robert Stevenson, aged 45 years and residing in Methuen street, Lawrence, and William Stone, aged 50 years, who resides on the Lawrence road near McMannion's the florist, were struck by an inbound Lowell and Lawrence electric car on the Lawrence line late last night and had miraculous escape from being crushed to death. Stevenson is in a precarious condition at St. John's hospital, but unless internal troubles develop, the doctors feel that he has a fair chance of recovery. Stone, apparently, suffered but slightly from his experience.

When struck by the car, he was thrown high into the air and to one side a distance of about 25 feet, while Stevenson, after being struck, was dragged about fifty feet.

Stevenson, who is almost totally blind, has been at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary at Boston since July 7, and was yesterday discharged. Stone, who also has some defect with his eyesight, went to the hospital at Boston yesterday afternoon for treatment, and the two left there for their home last night.

Arriving in Lowell at too late an hour to reach his own home, Stevenson accepted Stone's invitation to remain at the latter's home over night.

The two men, according to Stone's story, left Merrimack square after 10 o'clock, arriving at a point near McMannion's house 20 minutes later. They had just alighted from the Lawrence-bound car and were walking along the side of the track near Fox's turnout, when the Lowell-bound car, due in Merrimack square at 11:10 o'clock, came upon them before they could get out of the way.

Stone was thrown into the air and landed in some bushes on the side of the road. Stevenson disappeared after being struck, and when the car was brought to a stop his body was found beneath the motor box. He was unconscious and was bleeding from wounds on the head.

Both men were placed on the car and a record-breaking trip was made to Merrimack square. The ambulance had been previously summoned and was awaiting the arrival of the car. Stevenson was taken to St. John's hospital, but Stone refused to go stating he was afraid.

Upon arrival at the hospital Stevenson showed slight signs of recovering consciousness. His injuries consisted of a severe scalp wound and a laceration over the left eye. There were several abrasions on the left leg and the knee of the same member was broken. The left elbow was also lacerated.

Dr. James B. O'Connor, who witnessed the accident, made the following statement to a reporter:

"It was really wonderful that both men were not killed. I was sitting on the front seat in the car and did not notice the men on the side of the track until the car was almost on them. When the car struck them I saw Stone's body shoot over a clump of bushes on the left side, near the river bank.

"I lost sight of Stevenson after the car struck him. When the electric was brought to a stop we found his body beneath the body of the car near the motor box. I thought that the man had been cut to pieces and cannot understand for the life of me how he escaped as he did."

"Where the men stood when struck was a clump of bushes which prevented a good view of that side of the road even with the aid of the search light. The night was foggy and this cut the view ahead down considerably."

"The man was unconscious when we took him aboard the car and remained so until the city was reached."

The car was in charge of Motorman Jenkins and Conductor Higgins.

THE TYP UNION

Expresses Thanks to Humphrey O'Sullivan

One year ago today the printers employed in the book and job printing offices in this city went on strike for an eight-hour work-day. Since that time the Typographical union has been carrying on the fight with good results, and today the eight-hour day is an established fact in all the book and job shops of the city with the exception of two offices.

A meeting of the union was held this morning at 22 Middle street and was well attended. All the members present renewed their obligation to the International Typographical union.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to the president, financial secretary,

MULE SPINNERS

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Delegates of the National Mule Spinners' union were here for the annual session of their organization and meetings will continue through Saturday in Lawrence Encampment hall. Special interest followed the meetings as this is the first convention under the new system of annual, instead of semi-annual meetings. One feature of the convention was a report from Secretary Samuel Ross on matters pertaining to the cotton industry in New England with special relation to the position of unionists.

Dastardly Attempt Revealed at East Billerica Last Night

SKETCH OF THE OBSTRUCTION PLACED ON THE TRACK.

Railroad Tie Laid Across Rails Caused Engine to Jump the Track—Police Searching for the Culprits

A dastardly attempt to wreck the theatre train from Boston was made last night at a point about half way between the East Billerica depot and Tyngs bridge on the Boston & Maine railroad.

A railroad tie was placed diagonally across the rails about twenty yards from a switch. The train was going at a high rate of speed and the engine applied the air brakes as soon as the engine struck the tie.

The tie slid along the rails until it encountered the switch standard which brought it sufficiently to cause the engine to leave the rails. The application of the air brakes, however, reduced the speed to a minimum and obviated the danger.

The passengers, including about 50 Lowell people, received a slight shake-ing up and some of them were very bodily frightened but no injuries of any consequence were reported. The train was delayed for about forty minutes.

The wreck train was dispatched to the scene of the accident and once there it was but the work of a few minutes to reinstate the engine.

The tie must have been placed on the track within an hour of the arrival of the theatre train. Another train from Boston passed the point in question fifty minutes in advance of the theatre train.

The police of Billerica are investigating the case today. Officer Conway of Billerica received a message, by wire, from the division superintendent of the Boston & Maine this morning asking him to investigate the affair regardless of expense.

IN OTHER COUNTY

Alderman Hayes' Case May be Tried

Some lawyers are of the opinion that the case of Alderman Hayes and Joseph H. Clark may not be tried in Middlesex county but in some other part of the state under an order of the court known as a change of venue.

For years back this has been done in cases of great public interest, the purpose being to ensure an impartial trial before a thoroughly disinterested jury.

The fact that this particular case has caused a big sensation in this part of the country and the additional fact that the alleged fraud took place in Lowell and the date was set for next Monday. No explanation as to change in date and place has been made.

COWS POISONED

Perry Thompson Lost Eleven Most Valuable Ones in Herd

Eleven cows valued at $100 were poisoned in East Chelmsford between 11 o'clock last night and daylight this morning. The case is being investigated by Agent Richardson of the Humane society and the poison of this city.

The cows were the property of Perry Thompson, son of A. G. Thompson of this city, and were the eleven most valuable cows in a herd of 100. Mr. Thompson has a large farm in East Chelmsford.

Perry Thompson was notified but would not say officially, that the cows were poisoned. He will hold a post-mortem examination this afternoon. Dr. Sherman admitted eleven o'clock last night and four o'clock this morning. It was evident that the cows did not suffer much.

Agent Richardson does not as yet point to any body. The men employed on the farm declare the cows seemed to be all right at eleven o'clock last night. When they went to the barn at four o'clock this morning, milking time, they were horrified to find eleven of the cows dead in their stalls.

The milk served at the supper table the night before was the milk of two of the cows that were still living but not withered by the death. No ill effects were felt by those who drank the milk and whatever happened must have happened eleven o'clock last night and four o'clock this morning. It was evident that the cows did not suffer much.

SILVA—The funeral of Joseph Silva, infant child of Manuel and Francisca Silva, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 58 Charles street. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, under direction of J. H. McDermott.

KEELER—The funeral of Charles E. Keefer took place yesterday morning from his home, 33 Walnut street, and services were held at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock, with Rev. Fr. Hoffman as celebrant, and Rev. Fr. Martin and Rev. Fr. McDermott, as deacons and sub-deacons. The bearers were John Flomick, Alexander Collins, Patrick Daly and John Owens of Boston, and Edward Murphy and Thomas P. Maher of Lowell. The usher in the church and home were Thomas McLaughlin, Christopher O'Brien and Michael McGlynn. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, under direction of J. F. Rogers.

Among the floral tributes were: A standing piece from Boston Eagles, large wreath from Roxbury friends; pillow, "My Husband," from the widow; mound, inscribed "Da," from the son; spray of Jacob roses, Thomas P. Maher; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Harty; large set piece, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Van Annum; "Our Charlie," wreath, Brother George R. Keefer; set piece with cross, "My Boy," from mother; wreath, "Cousin Charlie"; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gibbs; pillow, "Sympathy," Mrs. J. E. Van Annum; spray of plums, Miss Minnie O'Brien; bouquet, J. Frank Dodge; pillow, Patrick Daly; mound, "Cousin," Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Owens.

According to some prominent lawyers of this city the city council is making plans for another injunction case if not for an indictment in an embezzlement charge.

At a recent meeting of the committee on accounts it was proposed that $1,000 be transferred from the perpetual care of lot fund to the Union cemetery appropriation.

Prominently no action was taken in the absence of Chairman Crosby and by the return the committee will have been made clear to the members of the city council that they cannot legally use the perpetual care fund for any other purpose than for the perpetual care of lots.

This fund for the perpetual care of lots is not a city appropriation but a fund contributed by the friends of those buried there which the city holds in trust and of which only the interest can be used, and used only for the care of the lots designated by the contributors to the fund.

A well known lawyer who has also contributed to the perpetual care fund said to a reporter of The Sun: "It will be outrageous for the city council to attempt to transfer any money from the perpetual care fund and I am of the opinion that should it be done the members of the city council or who ever had a hand in it would be liable to indictment for embezzlement. The lot owners will not allow such a proceeding and if the city council attempts the transfer we shall institute injunction proceedings."

To Give Up His Sweetheart

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Frederick Riley, a ruddy-cheeked youth of 20, private secretary of W. B. Collins, a trustee of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, was made his sixth offering by a Wall street broker to give up his attentions to his sweetheart, Miss Clara Thiele of Brooklyn.

The broker in a telegram offered the young man $25,000 if he would desist in his attention to his eighteen-year-old fiancee. Miss Thiele is a stenographer employed by John N. Ryan, also a broker, whose office adjoins that of Mr. Collins.

"I have been bounded and bothered off and on for three months," said Riley, "by the man who wants me to give up Miss Thiele, and there is more behind the affair than I can tell about. I will say that $25,000 is no inducement for me to give up my sweet heart. It isn't to be compared to her love."

Miss Thiele said she was much vexed that the broker should have become public.

"I met the man who has been following me so assiduously about a year ago," she said, "but have never been out anywhere with him. He has proposed marriage to me, but I have always refused him."

BUFFALO CLUB

STALLINGS WILL QUIT AS MANAGER.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 12.—G. T. Stallings, manager of the Buffalo baseball club of the Eastern League, confirms a report that he was to sever his connection with the club.

Stallings emphatically denied that the recent trouble resulting in his fine and his suspension had caused him to reach this determination. He said he had declared the next day that his contents were gone. The porter and conductor of the train said they had seen no one near the berth during the night.

SAVED BY MUSIC

Would-be Suicide Delays Plunge

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Anyone who has ever heard "William Tell" played knows the finale lasts over three minutes. That alone saved the life of Fred Dreher, bent upon suicide, at the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street recreation park last night.

Dreher, who lives at No. 555 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, went to the recreation park with a letter from his sweetheart Edith of Hoboken, in which she announced that she wished to break their engagement.

The band was playing "William Tell" to a large audience, and Dreher who had run at once to the railing of the tiers of the plot, retained poised there in order to hear the last of the selection before he made the leap. Life saver William King dashed his motive and started a run from the other end of the platform.

When the finale finally ended Dreher gave a yell, leaped into the air, hit his head on the side of the rock in falling, then sank from sight into the Hudson. But by this time King was also in the water. He caught Dreher as he appeared, and with the help of policemen Casanova and Shields in a boat got him to land after a fifteen minute's struggle. He was taken to J. H. Wood Wright hospital in a serious condition. His diary showed he had been living for weeks on five-cent meals in order to give his sweetheart money she needed.

Mayor Casey Wants Recreation Grounds For Children

Mayor Casey has been endeavoring for several months past to make some arrangement whereby the children of the city, especially those in the congested districts, might have the enjoyment of playgrounds where they will be safe from passing vehicles.

Today he issued an order that the yard of the Fayette street school be opened as a playground for the children in the school where the dead stood interred in a body past the casket of their dead comrade buried by the teacher. The casket was borne from the church to the house by a cousin of deceased, namely, Henry, Martin, Frank, Daniel George and Thomas Donohoe. The funeral procession then slowly wended its way to the Catholic cemetery, where interment took place in the family lot.

Trusting that this suggestion will receive prompt consideration, I remain,

Yours truly,
JAMES H. CASEY, Mayor

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 12, 1906.
Arthur K. Whitcomb, First of Schools.

Dear Sir: I would respectfully suggest the advisability of opening the school yard of the Fayette street school as a playground for the children in that vicinity.

This school is now closed so that no confusion will exist by the granting of this privilege. The opening of this school yard will allow children to play in a more protected place than the street.

Trusting that this suggestion will receive prompt consideration, I remain,

Yours truly,
JAMES H. CASEY, Mayor

CLANCEY PLEADED GUILTY

JOHN J. CLANCY, OF LOWELL, PLEADED GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER AND GOT 18 MONTHS IN THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

THE HURDY GURDY

Must Not Play in Front of Saloons

The board of police at its regular meeting last night arrived at a decision that cannot fail of commendation. It had to do with hurdy gurdy music in front of saloons and hotels.

The board decided that it would be best to abolish hurdy gurdy music in front of the saloons. The music has a tendency to attract crowds and create disturbances. This will need the amount of the saloon keeper, who is alleged, have never been in favor of the music in front of their saloons, however, that it obstructs the sidewalk and attracts children, whose presence is anything but desirable.

Apart from the sentiment of the saloon keeper, however, the action of the board will prove popular. It gives a little bit on the nerves to see a lot of children dancing to hurdy gurdy music in front of a saloon where men are reeling in and out.

SUNDAY CONCERTS.

The police board at its meeting last night listened to the reading of a letter from the Hathaway theatre management relative to a permit for a Sunday concert to be given next Sunday.

If this policy is adhered to, it will straighten the Sunday concert business out all right.

The letter was laid upon the table for future consideration.

It is the intention of the board to formulate some definite policy relative to Sunday concerts. Complaints have been made by so-called beneficent as to the amount received.

The promoters of Sunday concerts have been not only failing the board of police, but the public, especially the societies whose names have been used in the "for sweet charity's sake" scheme.

The law demands that the beneficent shall receive at least seventy-five per cent. of the gross receipts and instead of receiving that amount they have been receiving anywhere from five to ten dollars on concerts that net comfortable sums.

The police board has not yet formulated its plans, but the board will insist that when an application for a permit to run a Sunday concert is made that the beneficiary shall join in the petition and answer such questions as the board will deem necessary for its information.

If this policy is adhered to, it will straighten the Sunday concert business out all right.

VETERAN TRAVELER

Louis Grunewald, Sr., of New Orleans in Town

Mr. Louis Grunewald, Jr., the well known piano dealer of Central street, is entertaining today his father and mother, the former 51 years of age and the latter in the vicinity of 75 who came all the way from New Orleans, La., to visit him. While both have passed beyond the prescribed three score years and ten it would be hard to find in all this broad land a better preserved and more active couple of their years. Two years ago they celebrated their golden wedding in New Orleans and were remarried and solemnized again by the archbishop of New Orleans who has since passed away. Last year they toured Europe while this year they are visiting their children in the north which includes Lowell, New York and Milwaukee, Wis. On their trip north they were accompanied by their granddaughter, a resident of Houston, Tex., who is a pupil at the Sacred Heart academy in Baltimore, Md., and from there they came on to Lowell. Mr. Grunewald was also in the water. He caught Dreher as he appeared, and with the help of policemen Casanova and Shields in a boat got him to land after a fifteen minute's struggle. He was taken to J. H. Wood Wright hospital in a serious condition. His diary showed he had been living for weeks on five-cent meals in order to give his sweetheart money she needed.

"There is the greatest lot of buildings going on in New Orleans at the present time that I have ever known there. Three theatres, three large hospitals, some factories and a handsome structure belonging to the Jewish Young People's society, aside from numerous residences, are being erected. It is known that business is splendid there. The cotton industry has brought in a good deal of wealth, as excellent prices have been received for the product during the winter, the same being true in the case of the sugar industry. The sugar people are in a better condition than ever. We pay higher wages than are paid here. For instance, our bricklayers who are mostly negroes—often earn from $6 to $7 per day. If they work by the hour they get 70 cents an hour."

"We have no yellow fever in New Orleans. I firmly believe that the disease did not originate in New Orleans, for we have traced back the source of nearly every case and we have found that they were imported. Excellent sanitary precautions are being taken, and any cases on the boats entering the bay are quarantined. I have lived in New Orleans fifty-six years, and I had the fever during the great epidemic in 1854, which is the greatest we have ever had. I do not believe, however, that it ever originated in our city."

Leaving Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. Grunewald will proceed to New York, thence to Milwaukee to visit their daughter, Mrs. Joseph Flanner, and then back to New Orleans.

"The Grunewalds are not at present in the largest hotel in New Orleans, but it will be when the new addition with its 400 rooms is completed next year, making a total of 600 rooms in the building. So far as I know this is the first large building to be erected in New Orleans with a basement, that part of the building alone costing $150,000. What's completed I expect the structure to represent an expenditure of $1,500,000.

MURDER MYSTERY

Babe Says "Big Man Hurted Mamma"

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—On the lips of a two-year-old baby hangs the solution of one of the most baffling murder mysteries with which the Philadelphia police have been confronted in three generations.

Miss Mary K. Lewis, the beautiful and cultured young wife of a commercial salesman, was found murdered in her apartment, No. 2123 North Eleventh street, late last night. The body had been thrust into clothes pressed on the floor of the dead room played a motherless baby toy.

"Big man hurted mamma," he piped, when the horrified friends of the dead woman found her and sought to glean from the child some inkling of the murderer's identity.

The husband, who was in Atlantic City yesterday morning just in time to participate in a highly dramatic police inquiry,

HARRY SOMERS, who also boarded at No. 2123 Eleventh street, had been arrested. Lewis, who had not yet looked upon his dead wife, took the baby from the arms of a big policeman and walking up to the suspect, pleaded with the little one to say whether he looked like the murderer.

"Big man hurted mamma," piped the baby. "Is this the big man, dear?" wailed the father, seeming about to sink to the floor.

"Hurted mamma, hurted mamma," chattered the child, thrusting his chubby little fist into his father's eyes and pinching in wonderment when he found tears there.

But no baby flavor was stretched forth in accusation of the suspect. No word was uttered that could be construed and condemnation of the man so strongly on trial.

Somers was taken to the third degree chamber, where he maintains a stubborn silence. The police will confront him with the baby boy again tomorrow.

The eleventh street house, where the Lewis family had lived more than a month, is one of the better sort in a respectable neighborhood. It is run by Miss Charlotte Kelly. The police discovered today that her real name is Mrs. Clamer and that Somers is known to a select few as her brother.

Mrs. Lewis was attacked in the sitting-room, where her throat was cut with a pair of scissars. She was dragged through several rooms and thrust, standing, into the clothes press.

There she slowly died, while the baby, who had crept to the place, scratched on the door of her death-chamber, as though seeking to pierce the mystery that it contained.

STRANGE MIXUP LABOR LEADERS

Marital Tangle That Made Trouble

See Great Moral Victory in Maine

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—It was a strange marital tangle that Mrs. Sophie Kessel and her two daughters unfolded yesterday before Magistrate Wahl in the West Side police court, when Max Kessel, the husband and father, sixty-three years old and wealthy, was arraigned.

It was due to the detective skill of Mrs. Dora Blumberg, a married daughter, that Kessel was prevented from wedding a young and pretty Brooklyn girl.

Seventeen years ago Kessel disappeared and went to Montreal, where he wedded a woman named Smith and moved with her to Los Angeles, where he entered business and prospered. Kessel took the name of Smith. Three children were also born of this union—two sons and a daughter.

One year ago the second wife died. Recently Mrs. Kessel No. 1 discovered that her husband was in Los Angeles, and Mrs. Blumberg, who went there, persuaded her father to return. He brought the children of his second marriage with him and they became part of the family.

But Mrs. Blumberg discovered a few days ago that her father had advertised for a third wife in a Yiddish paper and received forty replies. She had her father arrested yesterday as he left a downtown bank with his son Maurice, where the old man had drawn $250 in anticipation of his third marriage, which was scheduled for last night.

Kessel denied that he had married the Smith woman, and said a rabbi had granted him a divorce from his first wife.

"We fought against terrible odds. Corporate interests flooded the district with money. Speaker Cannon, Secretary Taft and Senator Lodge were rushed to Littlefield's assistance, and a personal appeal from President Roosevelt seeking his re-election was sent into the district."

"Yet Littlefield's majority was reduced by 40 or more votes, and a few hundred more votes would have defeated him."

Latest returns show that the republican plurality for governor, usually about 35%, has been reduced to 30% or so.

In the Second Congressional district 14 out of 22 towns gave Littlefield 18%, against 17.2% for McGlynn, democrat.

The republican plurality shows a net loss of 4,352, compared with the vote of four years ago.

All four republican congressmen were re-elected.

THE PRESIDENT

Decides on U. S. Policy in Cuba

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—President Roosevelt's policy of preparedness for any emergency in Cuba, so far as the immediate operation of war vessels is concerned was announced at the state department today. It includes the arrival at Havana tonight of the protected cruiser Denver and the gunboat Marietta at Cienfuegos, some time tomorrow. The cruiser Des Moines will remain at Key West until further orders. Acting Secretary of State Bacon said that there was no disposition on the part of this government to make a demonstration in Cuban waters but that the insurrection had attained such proportions it had become necessary to take steps for the protection of American interests in Cuba. The department believes that for the present the Denver will be sufficient for all needs along the northern coast of Cuba and the Marietta for the southern coast.

The messages exchanged between the state department and Mr. Soper, charge at Havana and other American representatives in Cuba went to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay who for several weeks has personally directed the policy of the United States concerning the Cuban outbreak. In this connection there was an important incident concerning the orders to the Denver. After the manoeuvres in Long Island Sound the Denver proceeded to New London, Conn., for coal, sailing on Saturday for Norfolk, Va. In the meantime conditions in Cuba seemed to demand that a war vessel immediately proceed to Havana and the Denver was the only one available. Under orders from Oyster Bay she was reached at sea by a wireless cipher despatch and changing her course headed directly for Havana.

The Marietta was at Monte Cristi attached to the West Indian Squadron. She has just been ordered to proceed up the southern coast of Cuba to Cienfuegos. The program for the Des Moines does not call for her to proceed to Cuban waters and it is said she probably will be used in preventing filibustering expeditions from the United States embarking to Cuba.

In spite of the sudden activity of this government it is declared that there is no intention to take any part in the conflict beyond that demanded by the critical situation in which Americans have been placed in the island.

That the president has considered the ultimate possibility of intervention or at least the use of force in safeguarding the interests of this government there can be no doubt. This is shown by the fact that the navy department has been called upon for a statement of the number of marines that might be available in the event of trouble. There are between 600 and 700 marines now in the vicinity of the West Indies. There are 300 marines on the Dixie alone. The cruiser Columbia has just arrived at the naval station, Guantanamo, where she landed 100 marines to take place of an equal number who have seen long service there and now will be given sick leaves. The Columbia will then proceed to Colon in order to bring Secretary Root from his South American visit.

MAINE HIBERNIANS.

PORLAND, Me., Sept. 12.—Officers were selected at the closing session to-day of the Ancient Order of Hibernians annual state convention. A field day was arranged for this afternoon.

MARY SPEARE DEAD.

AMESBURY, Mass., Sept. 12.—Mark D. F. Speare, 84 years old, formerly well known in the mill centers of New England died here today. For many years Mr. Speare was the agent of the Amesbury and Salisbury mills which are now known as the Hamilton corporation.

DOG WENT MAD

Several Persons in Providence Bitten

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 12.—Dogs infected with rabies have bitten four persons in the Island within the last twenty-four hours and the cases of two of the persons at least will be attended to in the poison hospital in New York. In this city Doctor William P. O'Neil, of the Central police station, and a six-year-old son of Dr. William Murray of Salem, Mass., were bitten by a rabid fox terrier, which attacked them, and it is reported that several other persons have suffered from the teeth of the same animal. After the Murray boy was bitten the dog was killed and an investigation proved that the dog was infected with rabies.

In the little village of Tiverton a Boston bull terrier went mad and bit a son of A. R. Barney, a builder, and also attacked and wounded a man. It is thought this dog received infection from a bite from a rabid animal which passed through the village a month ago.

HAS BEEN ORPHEED TO BAIT TO HAVANA.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—With a view to caring for American interests in any emergency that may arise in connection with the Cuban revolution, the cruiser Denver several days ago was ordered to proceed from New London, Conn., to Havana. She is due there tonight. The gunboat Marietta which has been on patrol duty in Cuban waters was ordered to Montevideo to await the arrival of the couple in蒙特维多。

RAILROAD OWNERSHIP.
Senator Cramack of Tennessee told

ISSUE FOR PARTY TO DECIDE.

"Let me answer these two charges. I have tried to make it clear that I expressed my own opinion, and I have never sought to compel the acceptance of my opinion by anyone else. I respect the right of everyone else to do his thinking."

"If you ask me whether the question of government ownership will be an issue in the campaign of 1908 I answer I do not know. If you ask me whether it ought to be in the platform I reply I cannot tell until I know what the democratic voters think upon the subject. If the democrats believe that the next platform should contain a plank in favor of government ownership, then that plank ought to be included. If the democrats think it might not to contain such a plank, then such a plank ought not to be included. It rests with the party to make the platform, and individuals can only advise."

"I have spoken for myself and for myself alone, and I did not know how the suggestion would be received. I am now prepared to confess to you that it has been received more favorably than I expected. There is this, however, I do expect, namely, that those democrats who oppose public ownership will accompany their declaration against it with the assertion that they will favor government regulation, whatever they may conceive that the country must choose between government ownership of the roads and railroad ownership of the government."

"I still advocate strict regulation and shall rejoice if experience proves that that regulation can be made effective. I will go farther than that and say that I believe we can have more efficient regulation under a democratic administration with a democratic senate, and house than we are likely to have under a republican administration with a republican senate and house, and I would not be honest if I did not frankly admit that observation has convinced that no such efficient regulation is possible and that government ownership can be undertaken on the plan outlined with less danger to the country than is involved in private ownership as we have hitherto had."

"Among the reasons that have led me to believe that we must in the end look to government ownership for relief.

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, PROPRIETOR.

Three Dollars per Year. Twenty-five Cents per Month

The Sun receives the full day service of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, the greatest news-gathering organization in the world. The entire service received over a leased wire, by our own operator, in our own office in The Sun building.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1905 was

14,829

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1906.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell, and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

MAY LEAD TO TROUBLE.

No matter if the terrorists were responsible for the death of the British Consul at Baku, Russia will pay dearly for the murder. England has a good many faults, mostly in her disregard for the rights of weak peoples. In her greed for territorial expansion but no country protects her subjects or her consuls any better if as well as does England and when one of her consuls is murdered as was the case at Baku, she will demand reparation and enforce her demand by diplomatic methods if she can, but by her army and navy if she must.

SUBMARINE BELLS IN A FOG.

The Boston Herald makes a good suggestion for overcoming the danger from the delusive fog signals at sea. It is well known that the fog horns are very deceptive, not only in regard to the direction of the sound, but to the distance it has travelled. The Herald would recommend submarine bell signals as a means of safety in a fog and experiments with such signals indicate that the distance and direction can be more accurately determined from them than from the sound of the fog horn, which depends largely upon the density of the fog and the direction of the wind, when there is any wind, which rarely accompanies a fog.

COUNCILMAN CARR'S CHARGE.

Councilman Carr should be more specific when he charges the press with being paid for writing editorials against his scheme. This kind of talk is silly. Who would pay any paper for opposing an advertising scheme? The Sun wrote an editorial on the question, giving some of the instances which Councilman Carr quoted in his argument in favor of his city advertising scheme and suggesting a modified plan of doing what Mr. Carr proposed, at moderate expense. Was that editorial paid for? This kind of charging the press with dishonest motives is played out. Councilman Carr should leave it to the men who have to make such a charge as a means of cloaking their own crookedness.

THE JOINT DEBATE ON THE COMMON.

Now that we are to have a joint debate between Ames and Dunbar, beyond peradventure, let the good work go on. We expect an audience of 20,000 people. It will be rather wearisome to the speakers as well as to audience if a band be not employed to ward off the monotony of such affairs. Therefore, let both gentlemen agree to have a band to play "Hail to the Chief" at the opening and perhaps a dirge might be appropriate at the finish. It would add immensely to the general interest in the session. If Hon. Joseph J. Flynn of Lawrence, who has become the democratic candidate would set up a platform at short distance from the Ames-Dunbar camp and divorce the multitude with sound democratic doctrine and good sonorous democratic oratory.

PUSH THE WATER FRONT PARK SCHEME.

We are glad to note that one of our many propositions for public parks is likely to bear good fruit in the near future. We refer to the proposition to turn the waste land along the canal on Dutton and Anne streets into a public park. This can be done at a slight expense and without any damage to the canal system. The stone-work will have to be raised somewhat and a fence put up close to the edge. This would have to be done by the Locks and Canals company and the park board would do the rest. Such a strip along the canal would be a glorified to the people of that locality. In hot weather especially to the mill operatives in the neighborhood who take to the shade of the streets in hot weather. Once a start shall have been made in this direction the public at large will favor other such parks until we shall have gone far almost without knowing it in the movement for the beautification of the city. We would again urge the park board to push this canal front park idea so that the people may see the reality and the vast utility of a tract that has been lying idle for half a century and might be idle for a century longer if some movement of this kind were not started to use it in the interests of the public.

SECRETARY TAFT ON THE TARIFF.

Secretary Taft in his 13th speech in favor of the reduction of Congress Littleton has attracted a good deal of attention because he diverged considerably from the hard and fast doctrine of the stand-patters. He favors judicious revision of the schedules which have become obnoxious as will be seen from the following extract from his part speech:

Speaking my individual opinion and for no one else, I believe that since the passage of the Dingley bill, there has been a change in the business conditions of the country making it wise and just to revise the schedules of the existing tariff. The sentiment in favor of a revision of the tariff is growing in the republican party, and in the near future the members of the party will doubtless be able to agree on a reasonable plan. But the work of the present session, which was pressing in its urgency, could never have been accomplished if there had been introduced into congress and the counsels of the party the hard and fast doctrine certain to arise over the questions of the revision of the tariff. How soon the feeling in favor of revision shall crystallize into action cannot be foretold, but it is certain to come; and with it will be readjudged. The reasonable project of a revision of the tariff by the republican party on conservative lines should certainly be greatly preferred by those who favor revision and yet believe in the protective system, to legislation which is always threatened by the incoming of democratic congress and a democratic administration under the battle cry "a protective tariff is a robbery of the many for the benefit of the few," and to the disaster to general business which inevitably follows."

In reference to the alleged danger from a democratic congress, it may be stated that however great the evils of the present tariff the stand-patters would permit them go on till doomsday if it were not for the chances of a democratic congress taking the reins of government.

In his attitude as expressed in the above passage, Sec. Taft is not in accord with the stand-patter but it is a good policy for the party leaders to hold some undivided hearings slightly different from that which the trusts and combines dictated to the stand-patters.

Besides in the Maine district in which this speech was delivered it would have been bad policy for all the speakers to exploit the stand-pat policy. Lodge and Cannon did that effectively and the republicans in Maine were not all ready to approve any such national bumbo game.

SEEN AND HEARD

A young man had been to sea, and on his return was narrating to his wife adventure which he met with on board ship.

"Was one night, leading over the batten, looking down into the ocean," told the captain, who was called William, who was paid with gold and silver and immediately took out of sight. The other mate, going after him, but nothing answered. Strangely over the tall, down, down and after a long search found the watch came up and closed the ship and turned back to the nearest harbor, knowing that he had been ashore."

"William," said his mate, "I believe that but there's many a thousand that would not."

"What?" exclaimed William, "you are publicly insinuating that I'm a liar." "Well," said the old man gravely, "the thing I never told anybody, but if the mayor of the city ever to come to you and say, 'William, I want you to go to the port authority, I want you to stand on your shoulder and say to them, William, the fellow wants to see them!'"

A young captain on a cruise told a ghost story, for which he paid him money. After he had spoken of it, a man, the captain, began to curse the Atlantic from the top deck. He said, "I am a sailor now to see the old fog again, and I'll be lost, too, even if I'm not lost in the water." The young captain responded, "For a man to want to be afraid, and to collect it in the sailor to talk much, and to be afraid, is not to be taken. When the sailor returned, he had a ship of rats in his hold, the men had not thrown them out, but the sailor lay on the table, and he had been stoning, he said, the rats. And when the words, 'Sheer astern!' the thing was so mysterious that the ship's course was actually changed, and she steered due south for two or even hours. She came on again a week and succeeded in reaching the harbor at it. One of these men, the sailor on the resounding voice of the steamer, whom he had never before. This stranger some hours earlier had told the captain that he often went into catalogues, and that he had been captured out of one in which he had been lost, and a ship that was sailing somewhere to the north. It seemed an impossible story, but it is very well authenticated, all the same."

And then at home when asked to work
You doth do nothing else but grant.

Western European climate would be changed entirely were the isthmus of Panama and adjacent territory to be submerged. For in that case the equatorial current would be carried into the Pacific ocean and the gulf stream, which does so much to warm Europe, would not emerge into the Atlantic.

In a certain village in the western part of the state, the town clerk confounds business with his off-duty garners. A notice board at the edge of the town reads: "Automobiles must not go faster than eight miles per hour. J. O. Morris, town clerk. Get your gasoline from J. O. Morris."

Henry Marion of Atlantic, Minn., recently received a pension payment of seven cents paid to be the smallest payment ever record. The official allowance was for $1 for an increase of $1 a month, but after his attorney had been paid for securing the increase Marion received a check for seven cents.

A certain Mrs. May had a reliving dream recently when the bell at her house rang. She had a litter of eight kittens, a month old but had stolen her nest and gone along with the chickens, and had brought them with twice.

How's Your Hair?

Falls & Burkinshaw Announce That They Have at Last Secured a Cure for Hair Troubles.

We beg to announce to the people of Lowell that we have secured the agency of one of the greatest discoverers of recent years. We refer to the prescription of Dr. Edmund Wilson, M.D., England's most successful specialist in diseases of the scalp, who was enlightened for his many successes in the treatment of skin and scalp. Upon the death of Dr. Wilson this prescription was secured by American chemists and is now offered to the public under the name Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair. This preparation will grow hair on bald heads, even after all else fails. Unlike other hair preparations it is not sticky or greasy, but gives a live and glossy appearance to the hair. Miss Cornelia Stevens, of Somerville, Boston, Mass., says: "Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair grew a magnificent head of hair for me after I was told that I was becoming hopelessly bald. My hair now reaches nearly to my waist, and is heavy and glossy. I cannot too highly recommend it." If you are growing bald troubled with eruptions, dandruff, scrofula, or any scalp troubles, try Dr. Wilson's Life to the Hair. Albert Chemist Co., Boston, Mass., proprietors. Sold by Falls & Burkinshaw, 413 Middlesex street, Lowell, Mass. Price 50c.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY IN MAINE.

Cooper Monitor: It is now asserted that the combined textile industry, consisting of cotton goods, woolen goods, and worsted goods, was the most important in the state of Maine, according to the value of products and the number of wage-earners. Of the textile industries shown, the manufacture of cotton goods was first in rank among the selected industries in 1900 and third in 1905, while woolen goods was fifth and fourth and worsted goods twelfth.

WAS BURIED ALIVE

Denver Girl Found Fiance in a Coffin

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 13.—The following death notice appeared in King's City papers last January:

Die'd.—At the home of his parents, No. 258 Euclid avenue, Frederick J. Harvey, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His death was due to consumption, which caused a lingering illness for the past three years.

He returned from an extensive visit in New Mexico, where he had hoped to regain his health and had been home a week, being conscious to the last minute. He was 25 years and 5 months old, leaving a prostrated mother, father, sister and affianced wife, Mrs. May Godfrey, to mourn his loss.

The paper today prints this story:

"After being buried alive in the family vault at Kansas City from Jan. 5 to the middle of May, Frederick J. Harvey, one of the wealthiest men in Kansas City, came back to life Tuesday, Sept. 5, married his Denver sweetheart, Mrs. May Godfrey, who was instrumental in restoring him to life. Sept. 8, departed on his honeymoon the same day and will arrive here next week to visit relatives."

SON OF MILLIONAIRE

LEANDER COTTON THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE.

WINSTON, Conn., Sept. 13.—"That's the last card I'll lose," said Leander L. Cotton, aged 62, of Springfield, Mass., as he left a poker table in Cedarbrook River, near here, Monday. He had lost $50. He bought a half-pint of whiskey and started for his home six miles distant. After vomiting Cotton collapsed in a severe cold, which developed into pneumonia. His system was not strong enough to throw off the additional trouble, and physicians pronounced him dead. Death from poison gas arising from the pipe was given as the cause.

Although all antitoxins and respiration had crass his affianced wife, Miss Godfrey, would have it that he was not dead. She wept and moaned, took the death watch upon herself and would not leave the casket until it was placed on a marble slab next the caskets of his father and aunt in the family's tightly closed vault.

IN TOMB FOUR MONTHS

"For four months Mr. Harvey lay in the tomb of his dead ancestor until Miss Godfrey, crazed by the feeling which grew upon her that her beloved was not dead, returned to Kansas City and begged that the family accompany her to the vault.

The mother who was devoted to her son, gently accompanied her, and the two went together to the family vault. Entering the vault for the first time since the burial, they found a formalized casket which casket was open, Master of Ceremonies over them.

"That a tragedy had occurred, neither doubted. But the puzzling question was, Who had opened the casket?" It turned out that Mr. Harvey approached it to take the usual accustomed service position before Mr. Harvey just as he was on the day of the burial. The up-and-down cards were still piled, the hand was still shaker, and there was not a sign of decay. Late in the fact developed that the undertaker understood the poker-hands were to have paid the bill on, and that the poker-hands thought the undertaker would attend to it.

"Mrs. Harvey and Miss Godfrey had been taken to the family home, where they stayed daily from May until Sept. 5, when Harvey came to life and the wedding followed."

LOST AT POKER

HE WAS STRUCK IN THE CHEST.

ARLINGTON, Sept. 13.—Avery A. Giles, age 21, employed at the Gifford-Wood leather factory on Massachusetts ave., was almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon. Giles was dressing his grindstone, and it is thought that in getting the dressing rod out he fouled the stone. It was 38 inches in diameter and six inches thick, and broke into four pieces. The stone was revolving rapidly and the pieces flew, taking the flooring and the blinds with them.

GILES KILLED

Next Saturday at Spalding park the Prospects and Lowell Americans will play for the championship of the city in a purse of $50 and all of the gate receipts. The game promises to be the best played at the park this season, both teams being evenly matched, and confident. Considerable money has been already wagered on the result, and a large crowd is expected. The battles will be for the Prospects, Wheeler and Lipscomb and for the champions, Early and Kane. "Hugie" Thomas will call the game at 3 o'clock.

BASEBALL NOTES

Mike Donlin's ankle is coming along. When he was hurt it seemed impossible that he ever could play half again, so many of the small bones of his foot were broken.

The Highlanders are gaining in their lead over the Sox before they start west.

The Clark Griffith bunch is doing a little hitting, while the Sox are not getting the launches which came earlier in the season.

It was hard luck for Cleveland to lose Tuesday, for the Indians were beginning to see where they still had a chance for the pennant.

Jack Harper will rejoin the Chicago Club in Boston Sept. 19, when the ending champions will open a series at the south end.

Tom Hughes, Atlanta's whirling pitcher this year, will join Clark Griffith's forces at St. Louis at the close of the southern league season.

Joe of Cleveland has pitched in 10 recent games this year, winning eight and losing two. Brown of the Cubs also has participated in 10 similar contests, and has won nine, losing only one.

It has been decided to allow football games at the Huntington avenue grounds this fall. The Volkman school eleven will practice on the outfield, the regular gridiron will be a favorite with the many inter-scholastic league teams.

"Pop" Anson says that the corner stone of the Chicago club's National league success this summer was laid several years ago by Frank Selee, whose ill health has prevented him from reaping the reward of his judicious management. Selee has organized more winners than any manager in the country.

Manager McCloskey of the Cardinals is after young Sheehan, the brilliant westerner now with Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh is willing to make a trade, but McCloskey is adamant, as Mac got the best of him in the Kurgor-McFarland trade.

The new name for the Boston Americans is the Stalwarts.

The series between the New England and Connecticut league leaders is doing a lot to help interest in the minor leagues. The series is a new idea, and one which will be followed by the minor leagues throughout the country.

Manager Chance, who has been given a 1-10th interest in the Chicago Nationals, probably is wondering if his share is like Anson's. Uncle Adrian owned a big block of Chicago stock for years, but never received a dividend.

Plunk leads the American league pitchers with a record of 19 games won and five lost. White of Chicago has won 17 and lost 6, and Rhodes of Cleveland has won 18 and lost 7 games.

Stone, Taylor, Chase and Elick are the only batters in the American league who have made more than 160 base hits.

The Chicago Nationals have an additional incentive to win the world's championship series this fall, and get the $1000 or so due the winners.

All the members of the team except Evans and Schulte are married, and the $1000 would come in handy for coal bills during the cold winter.

3 TELEPHONES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 13.—That Mrs. Maurice E. Lewis, whose body was found Monday afternoon in a closet of the house at 2103 North Eleventh street, was stabbed with a lance in the hands of a woman is now the belief of the detectives. Jealousy is ascribed as the motive. It is known that the woman suspected was employed at a dental factory and had free access to dental instruments.

The police believe that this woman was aided or abetted either by another woman or a man. The fact that the authorities are searching for a certain man indicates the belief that a man was present when the fatal thrust was made.

The husband of the murdered woman said today: "If the people do not make arrests before next week, I will make a public statement that will disclose the horrible details of this tragedy and force the authorities to act."

whose official name is "the supreme council of sovereign grand inspectors general of the 2nd and last rite for the northern Masonic jurisdiction of the United States," must meet in Boston every three years.

Its jurisdiction covers New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

The council has between 400 and 500 members, and it is expected that including ladies there will be about 350 persons who will visit the city at the time of this meeting.

The meeting will be opened next Tuesday, and it is expected that the council will conclude its business Thursday.

Tuesday evening the 334 degree will be conferred on the candidates elected last year.

Tuesday evening the ladies who go to Boston will be taken to the Tremont theatre, and Wednesday afternoon the members and ladies will go to Wonderland on special cars. A shore dinner will be served there.

FOOTBALL NEWS HAPPY ORPHANS

The Harvard Eleven Begins Practice

In response to the call of Head Coach William T. Reid, Jr., and Captain Hatherly Foster, Jr., the candidates for the Harvard varsity football squad reported for their first practice yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock on Soldier's Field. A number of letters to the candidates considered eligibles have been sent out, and Coach Reid hopes to start in with 30 or 35 men.

The work this year will be largely in the nature of an experiment at first. Despite the new rules, many other experts believe that the new football will not be radically different to the spectator than it was before the rules were altered. So far the work of preparing for the football campaign has been mainly theoretical.

What sort of men will be best for the new game is problematical. Some interpretations of the rules would seem to require light, speedy men, but most of the college coaches believe that heavy men are still needed in the line, though there will be less line bucking assuredly than of old. Harvard's material cannot be gunged accurately at present in the light of the new rules. Had the rules been unchanged and had the eligibility rules remained as they were Harvard would have had nearly the team that played against Yale as a nucleus to build up the new varsity team. But the new rules barring graduate students and excluding freshmen has hit Harvard heavily and the makeup of the team is wholly a guess.

The rule barring graduates has cut heavily into Harvard's resources. Many of the men on the team last year were in, or will enter one of the professional schools this fall, and under the old rules would have been eligible to play, but now they are barred. Besides the men barred by the rule against graduates many other good men have been lost. Capt. Hurley heads the list and with him are Knutson, Lear, NeSmith, Carr, Harrison, Leonard, Brill, Snyder, McFadden, Overton, Squires, Cavence, Montgomery and Nichols. There is some doubt about some of the other men, among them Wendell, who took Hurley's place last year and Carl Lincoln, a sub half-back last year. Coach Reid will have to develop a new set of tackles and a new set of ends and a new full-back. The tackles and ends are doubtful positions under the new rules, as it is not known exactly what their weight in the new game will be.

For the tackles, no man or men stand out prominently as good available material. Inches, Bell, Shibley and Gilmore seem the best of the likely material, though some men may be developed from last year's Freshman eleven and substitutes.

Miss Katherine Reed of Tilden street will spend the next two weeks with her cousin, Miss Mollie Reed of Belmont, Mrs. Marjorie F. Welch has returned from Brimwick, Maine, where she has been visiting her brother, Fred Shepard.

Mrs. Alexandre Lelièvre and her daughters, Misses Clara and Yvonne, have returned from a six weeks' trip to Chicago and Montreal.

Mr. Edgar Bellefontaine, son of Mr. Miller Bellefontaine, has gone to Dean Academy, Franklin Falls, N.H., to pursue his studies.

Dr. Edgar Lavalle-Smith, brother of Editor Arthur Smith of L'Ecole, has been elected city physician of Nicolet, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Lavigueur, their sons, Masters Henri and Maurice, and Miss Eva Lavigueur of Quebec, who had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emily C. Lavigueur, have returned home.

A HEARING

TO BE GIVEN BY THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

The board of railroad commissioners has announced that it will give a hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 9, on the petition of the directors of the Boston & Eastern Electric railroad for a certificate that public convenience and necessity require the construction of an interurban electric railroad from Boston to Beverly. A hearing will be given Tuesday, Oct. 16, on a like petition from the directors of the Boston, Lowell & Lawrence Electric railroad.

The Chicago Nationals have an additional incentive to win the world's championship series this fall, and get the $1000 or so due the winners.

All the members of the team except Evans and Schulte are married, and the $1000 would come in handy for coal bills during the cold winter.

The friends of the Chicago National league club are planning a demonstration in the event the Chicago National club wins the world's championship from the winning club of the American League. Mayor Jimmie is to be asked to accept the chairmanship of a committee of leading business and professional men and it is proposed to have an automobile parade, the cars to be covered with varicolored electric lights, banners and flags. The celebration will end with a banquet and the presentation of "something handsome" to each member of the club.

George Niven has issued a challenge to any and every 165-pound wrestler in Lowell.

A meeting of the Merrimack Valley Duck Club was held in Lawrence Tuesday night and final arrangements were made for the opening of the season on Oct. 2. Lowell and Lawrence will be the teams to start the season and the balance of the season will be made up at the next meeting in Lowell on Sept. 30. Prizes to the amount of $1000 will be voted.

The indoor league will open the season next week with the following games: Monday, Vicks vs. Gloucester; Tuesday, Glens Falls vs. Utica; Wednesday, Utica vs. Lawrence; Thursday, Big 5 vs. B. & N. Friday, Lowell vs. Merrimack.

The prize in this league will amount to $150. The following are the officers of the league: President, Samuel Williams; vice president, Clarence Edwards; treasurer, J. J. Durkin.

THE JOINT DEBATE

All Preliminaries Have Been Completed

All Roads Tomorrow Night Will Lead to South Common—Ames People Foresee Possibility of a Strenuous Ending

There'll be a joint debate after all, despite the strenuous effort of the republican press to stop it.

"Call it off with honor even," cries a republican paper this morning, thinking of calling the event off after all the hard paper writing indulged in by the seconds.

The debate will be held and there will be thousands present to witness the scenes that will be enacted for there will be scenes, and to try and hear what will be said for the debaters will talk even if a majority of the crowd fails to hear them.

After Mr. Dunbar had waved all claims and consented to a rally on the common tomorrow evening it looked as though the colonel could find no other excuse except the fact that Friday is regarded by some as an unlucky day but he found one nevertheless and Mr. Legare came out yesterday with still another letter in which he asks Mr. Dunbar to assume half the responsibility in the arrangement of the plans and to send an invitation to the presiding officer to assure that gentleman that he was acceptable to both sides. Col. Chadwick quickly wrote back that he would do everything desired and in the event of Major Stott declining the honor of presiding he would agree upon any presiding officer named by the Ames people.

There would seem to be nothing in the way of the debate, and while in the opinion of many there was no intention below the surface of having a debate when the controversy arose, there will be a debate after all.

It will certainly be the political event of the season, and if it doesn't wind up in a free-for-all fight among the partisans of the two candidates we will have much for which to be thankful.

Here are positively the latest effusions of the seconds:

Sept. 12th, 1906.

Col. A. M. Chadwick, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Your communication accepting the conditions for a joint debate on the dignified issues of the campaign, to be held on the South common at 8 o'clock p.m., on Friday, is acceptable to Col. Ames in every particular save one, which he believes you will readily agree to as it is of minor importance. Not only should you bear half the expense of the lighting arrangements, etc., which you have already agreed to do, but also you should take half the responsibility for and do half the work of making these necessary plans.

If by any mischance a disagreeable feature should develop, owing to the strong feeling that exists in this campaign, it would be far better and easier to have both parties to the debate share the work of the arrangements as well as the responsibilities.

Further, no self-respecting man could be found to preside who was not requested so to do by both parties to the debate. We are seeking no advantages over our opponent and cannot be made to assume any.

I will meet you with pleasure at your headquarters or at ours or at any other place you may designate to make the arrangements necessary for a successful conduct of the debate.

Very respectfully,

JOSEPH A. LEGARE.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 12, 1906.

To Mr. Joseph A. Legare, of Congressmen Ames' Headquarters.

Dear Sir:—Replies to your letter of even date, I assume in advance one-half of the responsibility of any arrangements whatsoever that you may make for the debate between Mr. Ames and Mr. Dunbar, and of the necessary work which you can readily hire someone to perform. All expenses involved I have already insisted upon sharing with you.

Your suggestion that Major Charles A. Stott act as presiding officer is most cordially approved by me. In the event of his inability or unwillingness to serve, any suggestion you may make relative to a presiding officer will be at once approved by me, thus making him the choice of both of us.

Very truly yours,

A. M. CHADWICK.

It will be seen from Mr. Legare's letter that the Ames people foresee the possibility of a mix-up among the crowd. Such an ending of the debate after so much neat letter-writing would be in the nature of a calamity though it would be a most effective way of helping out the man who is getting licked in the debate. He's hoping the "dignified issues" of the campaign will be handled in a dignified manner, with gloves, as it were.

IN COLLISION

CAR AND WAGON DAMAGED IN CRASH

A wagon belonging to the Lowell Cooperative Association and driven by Eric Johnson, collided with one of the cars of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. in East Merrimack street early last evening. Johnson was thrown from his seat and sustained several severe lacerations on the left arm.

Johnson had alighted from his wagon and had the horse drawn alongside the curbing. He was about to get on again when the car came along. It is stated across the car track ahead of the car.

It will be seen from Mr. Legare's letter that the Ames people foresee the possibility of a mix-up among the crowd. Such an ending of the debate after so much neat letter-writing would be in the nature of a calamity though it would be a most effective way of helping out the man who is getting licked in the debate. He's hoping the "dignified issues" of the campaign will be handled in a dignified manner, with gloves, as it were.

NO JOINT DEBATE

MESSRS. DUNBAR AND AMES
CALL IT OFF

There will be no joint debate. Messrs. Dunbar and Ames have agreed to call the joint debate off and to refrain from calling each other quits.

Col. Chadwick said this afternoon: "The debate is off. Both candidates were requested this noon by the secretary of the republican city committee to call the debate off and make no more talk about it in the interest of the party, and they agreed to do so."

A representative of the Ames forces who answered the telephone in the absence of Sec. Legare said: "The debate is off. I believe Bob Marden claims the credit of bringing about the change in plans. He first prevailed on Mr. Dunbar to call the matter off and then they came to us and under the circumstances we agreed."

Mr. Robert Marden said: "Mr. Goward, secretary of the republican city committee is the man who brought the matter about and not me. I simply spoke to both candidates yesterday in the interest of the city committee asking them to call the affair off. I was not responsible for having it called off and not claiming any such credit."

Mr. Goward was not available this afternoon but it is understood that prominent republicans became disgusted at the school-boy tactics of the candidates and gone to him with a request that the republican city committee take a hand in the matter lest the two candidates make themselves so ridiculous as to affect the chances of the nomine at the polls. Accordingly Mr. Goward arranged for a meeting of both candidates at his office this noon at which he presented the objections to the debate with the request that in the interest of the party the 2 call the debate off and say no more about it. This they agreed upon and the matter was declared off.

The secretary's proviso that they say no more about it was fortunate for one of the candidates for it is whispered that one of them was looking for a graceful way out of it.

WON THE PRIZE

Mrs. Foody Made Great
Catch of Fish

Mrs. Thomas Foody who was one of the fishing party that accompanied Charlie Marron to Swampscott yesterday carried off every prize offered for the best catch of fish. Mrs. Foody made the others in the party, especially Joe Flynn and Harry Gonzales look like the easiest of amateurs. The aggregate weight of her catch of fish was 32 pounds and one rollie weighed 18 pounds.

Mrs. Foody made every one else take a back seat while she took first rank as a follower of Isaac Walton. Up in the vicinity of German street last night when the catch of fish was exhibited the neighbors opened their eyes in surprise. They had always supposed that Harry and Joe were experts in their line but now the honors have flown down from the two heroes of many battles with the fury tribe.

Murdered the Mother of His Wife

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The high crime of child murder led to another yesterday on the East Side. One of the houses that stand on what was once the old Belmont farm at 250 Seventh street, once owned a time by the home of Maudie Van Schatek, but that was many years ago. Yesterday it houses a half dozen families on the fourth floor lived before yesterday elected them, with her daughter, Blanche, and her widow son-in-law, Harry Diamond. Today Blanche is the only member of the family at home and alive, elected her in a dimly lit room, bedecked in white with a gift of lace veiling over her head, a black garment, as in the orthodox Jewish custom in honoring the dead women buried. Harry Diamond is in Belmont Hospital, a prisoner, with a like sound in his body, from which it is expected that he will die.

There was a wedding something more than a year ago at 250 Seventh street, Anne, the older daughter of elected, was led under the canopy by Harry Diamond, proprietor in his trade of paper hanger and plasterer. He was a handsome "young," said the friends, and as for Anne, she made a most beautiful "bride." That is to say, bridegroom and bride were a well-made pair for looks.

Mother passed and Harry Diamond began to hear that he would have no one to pay the Kiddush over him when he should die, and this is the greatest blow that can befall a husband of the Yiddish quarter. He worried over it, and so did his wife. Finally she said to him one day, "I will go to the hospital. Maybe the doctor can help me, seeing that the rabbi is of no avail."

Beth Israel hospital has not many cases of this kind, for Jewish marriages that are not fruitful are rare. But there are some. It was decided that an operation might be tried. It was dangerous, probably fatal, but if unoperated all would be well.

The operation was performed but it was not a success. Five weeks ago Anne Diamond died. Her husband went to shew with his high hat decked with a band of mourning that covered all save an inch or so of the leather at the top. He was faithful as far as in every went. But he reproached God.

"Now see, thy daughter was a barren woman and she lies dead. She was a shame to me and to myself," he said to the reporter. "What shall I do now that this is come on me?"

"Don't worry," said the old woman, "that this should come on me in mine old age. It is not my fault."

"But, ma'am, thy other daughter, Blanche, is there," said Diamond. "It may be that the curse and the reproach have disappeared now that Anne, too, is to her, is dead. Give me thy other daughter and I shall be able at least to face the world, unashamed, again."

"Unashamed? It is too soon. Thy wife and my daughter not live weeks dead and thou wouldn't marry again. Thou wouldn't bring anyone on me now that Anne is old and near death than that Anne, please be to her, was childless with three hot husband."

The old retired angler Diamond. He was a man of hasty temper and angry-faced at the death of his wife. He used to drink. Yesterday he went home shortly before 10 o'clock, having been away all night.

And the old woman quarreled long and fiercely. He brought her to give the other daughter to him. Mrs. Cohen said, "No, it is not seemly. Besides, she likes you not."

Diamond suddenly drew a revolver and discharged it at the old woman. Without a sound she fell to the ground and died at once. Then he turned the revolver on himself, but that was not a shot. Blanche was not at home, but a girl named Kantrowitz who lived upstairs heard the shot. She rushed down to the street and got a policeman. Diamond was taken to the hospital.

FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

City Councilmen May be Indicted

According to some prominent lawyers of this city the city council is making plans for another injunction case, if not for an indictment in an embezzlement charge.

At a recent meeting of the committee on accounts it was proposed that $15,000 be transferred from the perpetual care of lot fund to the Edson cemetery appropriation. Fortunately no action was taken in the absence of Chairman Crosby and by the time he returned the committee will have made clear to the members of the city council that they cannot legally use the perpetual care fund for any other purpose than for the perpetual care of lots.

The fund for the perpetual care of lots is not city appropriation but it is contributed by the friends of those buried there which the city holds in trust and of which only the interest can be used, and used only for the care of the lots designated by the contributors to the fund.

A well known lawyer who has also contributed to the perpetual care fund will to a reporter of The Sun: "It will be outrageous for the city council to attempt to transfer any money from the perpetual care fund and I am of the opinion that should it be done, the members of the city council or whoever had a hand in it would be liable to indictment for embezzlement. The lot owners will not allow such a proceeding and if the city council attempts the transfer we shall institute injunction proceedings."

John F. Saunders

thousands of marchers and other thousands in the streets. His reception at the armory last night, where he addressed 12,000 persons, was wildly enthusiastic.

When Mr. Bryan entered the hall on the arm of Mr. Watterson there was a demonstration that lasted 10 minutes. Thousands of flags waving with the colors of colors that swept over the room. As soon as the noise subsided Mr. Watterson began his address of welcome, in which he said:

"There is but one paramount benefit for the next presidential election, and that is the rescue of the government from bands that have misused and misappropriated it, and its restoration to the custody of the plain but sovereign people. The party to it are, upon the one hand, a standing army of trained politicians held together not alone by the cohesive power of the public patronage, but by a community of interest in upholding as it is upholding, rightly or wrongly, in all the party of annex, of war, and, on the other hand, the mass and body of those who bow the head and draw the sword and pay the taxes, undrilled, undisciplined, widely separated, often groping in the dark, sometimes instigated by divided counsel, always toiling the resources by which the arts are reduced and dangers turned, but never yet called except to conquer. It is veteran troops against the raw militia, an unequal, though not a hopeless array, as many a well-fought field in days of old were witness."

RYAN AS CHIEF

"I recognize no one chief in this anti-monopoly cause. Hon. William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska.

"It costs us no less either of personal patronage or of pride of opinion to make Mr. Bryan chairman. Mr. Bryan and I have not always agreed as to the means, but we have always disagreed as to the end."

"We propose to reform, not to revolutionize, the government. We propose to reconstruct democratic institutions in the Capitol, returning to the voters what belongs to the voters. We propose to drive from the floor of the Senate those who sit there not as agents of the president, but as corporation counsel. We propose to drive from the floor of the house the speaker and his ruling committee, who have made an autocracy of that which was created a legislative body.

"Our duty is the nation; our proof the record of the republican party, our witness Theodore Roosevelt; our attorney Mr. Bryan of Nebraska."

RAILROAD OWNERSHIP.

Senator Cannon of Tennessee followed Mr. Watterson with a brief speech and Senator W. L. Stone of Missouri introduced Mr. Bryan, who announced that he would "read a statement on a topic which had been generally discussed since he had touched on it during his speech at New York. He then read his statement, which, in part, follows:

"In my speech at the New York reception I made some remarks concerning the government ownership of railroads, and thought that I had expressed myself so clearly that my position could not be misconstrued even by those who desired to misconstrue it. The New York speech was prepared in advance. It was not only written, but it was carefully revised. It stated exactly what I wanted to state, and gave nothing to withdraw or modify in the statement that I made. What I say tonight is rather in the nature of an elaboration of the ideas therein presented."

"After quoting from the democratic platform of 1896, that a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable, and after laying it down as a principle that public ownership should begin when competition ends, and that people should have the benefit of any monopoly that might be found necessary, I stated that I had reached the conclusion that railroads partake so much of the nature of a monopoly that they must ultimately become public property and be managed by public officials in the interests of the whole community."

MEANS WHAT HE SAID.

"I added: 'I do not know that the country is ready for this legislation. I do not know that the majority of my own party favors it, but I believe that an increasing number of the members of all parties are in public ownership a sure remedy for discrimination between persons and places and for the extortionate rates for the carrying of freight and passengers.'

"Then proceeded to outline a system of public ownership whereby the advantages of such ownership might be secured to the people without the danger of centralization. This system contemplates federal ownership of the trunk lines only and the ownership of local lines by several states. I further expressed it as my opinion that the railroads themselves were responsible for the growth of the sentiment in favor of public ownership, and said that while I believed that the railroad recently enacted should be given a fair trial, we might expect to see the railroads still more active in publicizing their experience with them derived from the experience we had had with franchise-holding corporations.

"This statement of my views has been assailed by some as an attempt to force these views upon the democratic party and by some as an announcement of an intention to insist upon the incorporation of those views in the next democratic national platform.

ISSUE FOR PARTY TO DECIDE.

"Let me answer these two charges. I have tried to make it clear that I expressed my own opinion, and I have never sought to compel the acceptance of my opinion by anyone else. I respect the right of everyone else to do his thinking."

"If you ask me whether the question of government ownership will be an issue in the campaign of 1908, I answer I do not know. If you ask me whether it ought to be in the platform I reply I cannot tell until I know what the democratic voters think upon the subject. If the democrats believe that the next platform should contain a plank in favor of government ownership, then that plank ought to be included. If the democrats think it ought not to contain such a plank, then such a plank ought not to be included. It rests with the party to make the platform, and individuals can only advise.

"I have spoken for myself, and for myself alone, and I did not know how the suggestion would be received. I am now prepared to confess to you that I have been received more favorably than I expected. There is this, however, I do expect, namely, that those democrats who oppose public ownership will accompany their declaration against it with the assertion that they will favor government ownership whenever they shall find that the country must choose between government ownership of the roads and railroad ownership of the government.

"I still advocate strict regulation and shall rejoice if experience proves that regulation can be made effective. I will go farther than that and say that, I believe we can have more efficient regulation under a democratic administration with a democratic senate and house than we are likely to have under a republican administration with a republican senate and house, and I would not be honest if I did not frankly admit that observation has convinced me that government ownership is possible and that government ownership can be undertaken on the plan outlined with less damage to the country than is involved in private ownership as we have had it or as we are likely to have it.

"Among the reasons that have led me to believe that we must in the end look to government ownership for from and married twice to the same woman, Marie Tudor of Brooklyn.

Fresh from Harvard, heir to $100,000 and an adept in polite accomplishments, "Jimmy" Garland had strolled to the heart of pretty Marie Tudor, descended from the royal house of Tudor, and there came a day in 1893 when Rev. L. K. Storrs performed the marriage ceremony in St. Paul's Episcopal church in Brooklyn.

In 1896 the open rupture occurred, the pair separating. Mrs. Garland went to live with her children at Lincoln. For two years they were apart, when one day society awoke to find that "Jimmy" Garland and his wife were reconciled and were again occupying their beautiful home at Hamlet.

The reconciliation was not successful or lasting, for a year later Mrs. Garland again left her husband and brought her divorce. Great bitterness was shown by both parties at the trial, which was held before Judge De Courcy, at Salem, and in the end Mrs. Garland was granted her decree and $5,000 a year, as well as the custody of her children.

A year later in August, 1901, they were remarried at Newport.

PRESENTED A MEDAL

HEROIC NASHUA BOY IS REWARDED.

George Levesque, 6 blossom street, says the Nashua Telegraph, was recently surprised by the visit to his home of 40 of his friends and acquaintances, who made the event the occasion of presenting him with a handsome gold medal as a mark of esteem and honor for the heroism which he displayed in rescuing two companions, Elzior Grandison and Edward Omlette, while the three were in danger of drowning while boating some weeks ago at Lakeview.

Mr. Levesque had received no intimation whatever that anything of the kind was being planned, nor did he know until the addresses presenting him with the medal were made by a brother, D. Levesque, Mr. Grandison and Mr. Omlette, that the occasion had been brought about to present him with a hero's badge.

The accident occurred at Lakeview, Sunday, Aug. 12. The three companions were fished from their boat nearly in the middle of the lake and the trio Levesque was the only one able to swim. He succeeded in keeping both of his companions above the water by utilizing the overturned boat to assist them until aid could arrive from the shore.

At the time the three were taken to a camp of some Lowell young men where their clothing was dried and they recovered from their narrow escape so that they could return to this city.

Mr. Levesque received many words of praise for the bravery which he had exhibited, and the presentation of the medal was the result of the determination on the part of his friends to give him some substantial remainder of the service which he rendered.

Outside of the presentation of the medal the evening was passed in general sociability, selections of instrumental music, songs, recitations, etc., filling in a very enjoyable evening. Refreshments were served.

AUTOMATIC ALARM.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the automatic fire alarm at Howard & Watson's paper tubs shop in Lincoln street called out a portion of the department on a needless run.

If I shall mention two or three, and foremost is the corrupting influence of the railroad in politics. When the president, following the democratic platform, insisted upon regulation, he was met with the opposition of the railroads and every point gained in favor of the people was gained after a strenuous fight.

"I have no idea that the railroads are going to permit regulation without a struggle, and I fear that their influence will be strong enough to delay it if it does not entirely defeat remedial legislation.

"Another reason which led me to favor government ownership is the fact that the people are annually plundered of an enormous sum by extortions levied on cities and individuals derive out of businesses by the favoritism shown by the railroads. You say that all these things can be corrected without interference with private ownership. I shall be glad if experience proves that they can be corrected, but I no longer hope for it."

A tremendous yell arose when at the end of the statement Mr. Bryan emphasized said:

"Whenever I save a danger threatening the people I have spoken out without asking anybody's permission or querying what the effect might be on me."

GARLAND IS DEAD

He Was Well Known Clubman

HANOVER, Sept. 13.—James A. Garland, the millionaire clubman of New York and Boston, died at the sanctuary of Dr. L. H. Briles in Hanover at 2:35 this morning.

Multimillionaire clubman, yachtsman and editor of the New England Magazine, James Albert Garland, or "Jimmy" Garland as he was better known in some circles, attained great notoriety in life as one of the chief actors in a domestic drama, replete with marriage and divorce, attaining the rather unique distinction of having been divorced once and then married twice to the same woman, Marie Tudor of Brooklyn.

Fresh from Harvard, heir to $100,000 and an adept in polite accomplishments, "Jimmy" Garland had strolled to the heart of pretty Marie Tudor, descended from the royal house of Tudor, and there came a day in 1893 when Rev. WAS BURIED ALIVE

Denver Girl Found Fiance in a Coffin

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 12.—The following death notice appeared in Kansas City papers last January:

Died—At the home of his parents, No. 125 Euclid avenue, Frederick J. Harvey, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His death was due to consumption, which caused a lingering illness for the past three years.

He returned from an extensive trip to New Mexico, where he had helped to regain his health and had been doing a work being consigned to the last minute. He was 29 years and 5 months old, leaving a prostrated mother, father, sister and infirmed wife, Miss Lily Godfrey, to mourn his loss.

The papers today repeat this story:

"After being buried alive in the family vault at Kansas City from July 5 to the middle of May, Frederick J. Harvey, one of the wealthiest men in Kansas City, came back to life Tuesday, Sept. 5, married his Denver sweetheart, Miss Lily Godfrey, who was instrumental in returning him to life. Sept. 6, departed on his honeymoon the same day and will arrive here next week to visit relatives."

LOST AT POKER

LEANDER COTTON THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE

WINSTED, Conn., Sept. 13.—"That's the last card I'll lose," said Leander L. Cotton, aged 62, of Sandfield, Mass., as he left a poker table in Colchester River, near here, Monday. He had lost $50. He bought a half-pint of whiskey and started for his home six miles distant. Yesterday morning Cotton's lifeless body was found in the Edingtonville. Cotton took poison before drowning himself. He was once a prosperous business man, but a maul for gambling ruined him.

GILES KILLED

HE WAS STRUCK IN THE CHEST.

ARLINGTON, Sept. 13.—Avery A. Giles, age 22, employed at the Oliff-Wood leather factory on Massachusetts av., was almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon. Giles was dressing his grindstone, and it is thought that in getting the dressing rod out he fouled the stone. It was 38 inches in diameter and six inches thick, and broke into four pieces. The stone was revolving rapidly and the pieces flew, taking the flooring and the guards with them.

BASEBALL NOTES

Mike Donlin's ankle is coming along. When he was hurt it seemed impossible that he ever could play ball again, so many of the small bones of his foot were broken.

The Highlanders are gaining in their lead over the Sox before they start west.

The Clark Griffith bunch is doing a little hitting, while the Sox are not getting the bunches which came earlier in the season.

It was hard luck for Cleveland to lose Tuesday, for the Indians werebumbling to see where they still had a chance for the pennant.

Jack Harper will rejoin the Chicago Club in Boston Sept. 19, when the coming champions will open a series at the south end.

Tom Hughes, Atlanta's winning pitcher this year, will join Clark Griffith's forces at St. Louis at the close of the southern league season.

Joss of Cleveland has pitched in 10 shutout games this year, winning eight and losing two. Brown of the Cubs also has participated in 10 similar contests, and has won nine, losing only one.

It has been decided to allow football games at the Huntington Avenue ground this fall. The Volkmar school eleven will practice on the field, the regular gridiron will be a favorite with the many inter-scholastic football teams.

"Pop" Anson says that the corner stone of the Chicago club's National League success this summer was laid several years ago by Frank Selsor, whose ill health has prevented him from reaping the reward of his judicious management. Selsor has organized more winners than any manager in the country.

Manager McCloskey of the Cardinals is after young Sheehan, the brilliant westerner now with Pittsburg. Pittsburg is willing to make a trade, but Dreyfuss is skittish, as Mac got the best of blue in the Karger-McFarland trade.

The new name for the Boston Americans is the Stahlwicks. They will be series between the New England and Connecticut league leaders is doing a lot to help interest in the minor leagues. The series is a new idea, and one which will be followed by the minor leagues throughout the country.

Manager Chinn, who has been given a 1-10th interest in the Chicago Nationals, probably is wondering if his share is like Anson's. Uncle Adrian owned a big block of Chicago stock for years, but never received a dividend.

Plank leads the American league pitchers with a record of 19 games won and five lost. White of Chicago has won 17 and lost 6, and Rhoades of Cleveland has won 15 and lost 7 games.

Stone, Laible, Chase and Elick are the only batters in the American league who have made more than 150 base hits this season.

The Chicago Nationals have an additional incentive to win the world's championship series this fall, and get the $100,000 or so due the winners. All the members of the team except Evers and Schulte are married, and the $100,000 would come in handy for coal bills during the cold winter.
